legend, the monster. If you ever wanted to rummage in his mind pants, to see what really makes the Duke of Norwich tick, then this is the book for you. It is handsomely crafted from the finest timbers, and the rarest of Indian inks, and every word is a literary voodoo canape... All poorly conceived jokes, and homage aside, it really does appear to be every ruddy word, and the paper conforms with what you have come to expect from paperbacks, and it does contain just about every line of interest Alan has said. Also, there is a nauseating picture of him on the front cover that should put a toblerone in your shorts, or, humiliate a relative at Christmas. I implore you, don't delay another moment. Buy it!

Join Alan Partridge on his incredible journey of discovery in Every Ruddy Word: All The Scripts. Alan Partridge is our most remarkable broadcaster. From the giddy heights of his short-lived TV chat show to the crashing lows of six months in a travel tavern, he's done it all. Whether shooting dead one of his guests on air; being crushed under a dead cow; having incomplete sex with a woman he was supposed to be sacking or encountering 'mentalist' fans, Alan remains a formidable presence on Radio Norwich. And despite suffering a breakdown, Toblerone addiction and skewering his foot on a spike he always bounces back. From Alan Partridge's first radio chat show to the pulping of his autobiography, Every Ruddy Word is the complete story of one of Britain's most-enduring comic heroes. 'Charts every line of Mr Blazer's plummeting career from radio to TV to corporate video presenter. A treat' THE TIMES 'The man is a monster' GUARDIAN Alan Partridge presents 'Up With the Partridge' on Radio Norwich and a military-based game show on cable TV. He's appeared in such series as On the Hour, The Day Today, Knowing Me Knowing You and I'm Alan Partridge. He'll soon be living in a house built to his own specifications in the outskirts of Norwich. He has written a bestselling autobiography, I, Partridge, revamped his career in 2010 with the 12 part Foster's Funny series 'Mid Morning Matters', and 2013 sees the release of his long-awaited film Alpha Papa. He drives a Lexus. (Scripts and extra material by Steve Coogan, Armando Iannucci, Peter Baynham and Patrick Marber)
